

"My wife and I recommend Dr. Miles' Nervine for Fits and spasms."

We have a boy who is nine years old now, and has had spasms since he was two years old. We had tried everything we knew and also took him to different doctors who said it would only be a short time until these fits would kill him. They would not allow him to go to school; finally my wife commenced to give him.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Now he seems completely cured and goes to school regularly and has not had a spasm for months.

Stephen G. Horlick, Ambridge, Pa. Spasms, fits, convulsions, St. Vitus dance and epilepsy frequently afflict children. If you have a child suffering from any of these diseases do not hesitate to give Dr. Miles' Nervine a trial.

Sold under a guarantee assuring the return of the price of the first bottle if it fails to benefit. At all druggists.

HE VISITS THE COVE.

J. W. Dorton Tells of the Churches and the Great Improvement in Farming There.

On Sunday last, the writer attended the meeting at the Baptist church, in Grassy Cove. Sunday was the last day of a three days' meeting, or association, during which time many subjects were discussed relative to the good of the church.

On Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. H. Monday, preached the gospel with no uncertain sound to a nice audience. They took the Lord's Supper in their usual impressive manner, ending with a good old song and a hand shake before they went out.

On Sunday afternoon, some talks were made of the Sunday school question and much interest was manifested. The pastor declared in strong terms for more and better Sunday school work and all present endorsed his talk.

J. V. Wright, the Field Secretary of the County Sunday School Association, had been in attendance at the association and was encouraged in his work by the discussion and the general good will accorded him, in which discussion he was invited and took more or less part.

There are two church houses there close together. The Old Church was built sometime before the civil war and apparently is as good now as 40 years ago. It is one of the first churches in the country that had glass windows. In it such old Soldiers of the Cross as James Gipson, James Johnson, Asa Newport and Allen King preached many years ago. Later such preachers as Jesse P. Roddy, James McCallen, Thomas West, W. H. Selvedge and P. W. Arwood preached. The loudest sermon ever preached in Grassy Cove was preached in this old house by Jesse P. Roddy at a protracted meeting a long time ago.

The new church is on the hill near the old one. It was built some 28 years ago. But it does not seem to be any better now than the old one, though it was well built. It is a strange fact that old houses last right on while new ones soon are gone. Since the people of the old and the new houses have united, they will need but one house now.

The people of the Cove have not made any progress of late years in churches and schools, but their progress in farming has been wonderful. I am told that there is 50 times as much raised in the Cove now as 25 years ago, and it has all appearance of being true.

On fields that used to be in sassafras and persimmon sprouts, saw briars and sedge and thought to be too poor to attempt to reclaim, are now bearing fine crops.

G. W. Davenport is making good wheat on land that was, as they said, worn out 40 years ago. He could tell better how he does this than I could. He owns the old Gipson place, which was said to be poor. It does not look that way now. I remember long time ago that Uncle James Matthews was going to move to that place. Some one asked him why he was going to do so, and he said: "To starve to death, I reckon."

John Kemmer, one of the best farmers in the country, is making old fields bring forth and bud. He raised more than 3,000 bushels of corn last year, and how much he will make this year. I have no way of knowing, but it will be a plenty. It might be a good thing if he could live another life to show the people how to farm.

Andy Ford is making the old fields on the Burt Andrews farm look like Sequatchie Valley corn fields. It just seems that all the land in the Cove is better than it used to be, but, I suppose, the great change is all brought about by better farming. If you want to know what results this is bringing about, try to buy some land in the Cove.

However, all the progress is not in the Cove. Billy Martin and Davy Hedgecoth have as good fields of corn at Meridian as are often seen. It seems also that all mountain land is getting better. Anyway, better crops are being raised on it. I remember when I thought Thomas Hassler should be governor because he raised some 200 bushels of corn on the mountain, and that McKenzie Rose should be president because he raised 800 bushels of potatoes. Jim Smith raises more than both of them right here at Crossville, now, and he has only gotten to be county trustee.

J. W. Dorton.

DON'T WORRY, but work.

Deputy Sheriff Wm. Harris was here from Chattanooga for the week-end visiting his daughter, Mrs. B. H. West, and other relatives and friends. Mr. Harris was at one time marshal here and made an excellent officer.

Miss Eula Bishop returned Monday from Harriman, Knoxville and Athens, where she had been for ten days visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. Henry Arrick and Mary Abston were married Monday at the court house by Rev. O. B. Rector.

Rev. J. H. Elder and wife, of Datona, Fla., are here to pass their vacation. Rev. Elder filled the M. E. church pulpit Sunday night. He is pastor of the Presbyterian church at Datona.

Jim Moore, son of R. A. Moore, Harriman, has been called to Louisville, Ky., by wire by the president of the local American Association ball club to sign a contract. He plays out field, is left handed, six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds and is said to be a splendid prospect for a high class player. This year he has batted 300 with Taladeaga in the Georgia-Alabama league and he batted 420 in the Appalachian league last year. Mr. Moore has many friends here who will be much pleased to learn of his advancement in ball. He is a genial and pleasant fellow and wins friends rapidly wherever he goes.

Sheriff G. W. Toney is having some much needed repair work done on the High School pump. Inmates of the county bastille are doing the work. The surface earth is being removed to the depth of some eight or ten feet to the rock to put in a metal pipe. The well is a drilled one and gives trouble by getting dirt in it. The repairs aimed at hope to overcome that trouble.

J. G. Dudley, of Gainesboro, uncle to G. A. and J. E. Taylor, was here last week on his way to Kingston to see the negro doctor seeking relief for gall stones.

Mrs. Lena Lewis, of Sparta, has been here for some days visiting the family of Dr. V. L. Lewis.

GRAND MATRON HERE.

Monday night Amanda Chapter O. E. S. was honored with the presence of Grand Matron Leta W. LeSueur, who was here on her annual official visit.

There was a good attendance and the work was exemplified, after which the Grand Matron gave the chapter instruction and commented on the work. The charming personality of Mrs. LeSueur, coupled with her splendid knowledge of the work won for her the highest esteem of the chapter members and all felt that her visit had been of marked benefit to the order. While here she was entertained by Mrs. Charles Comstock. A luncheon was given by Mrs. Comstock yesterday in honor of the Grand Matron, which was attended by several of the chapter members.

The Grand Matron will leave today to visit Onkdale and Harriman chapters and she will return here Friday for a rest and visit of a few days. On her return she will be the guest of Mrs. Eva C. Bishop. The Grand Matron will likely go from here to visit the Cookeville Chapter and from there to her home in Nashville.

Under the wise and energetic direction of Sister LeSueur the membership of the order is growing splendidly, it having now almost reached the 7,000 mark, with nearly 150 chapters in the state.

ARMY WORM HERE.

Something Supposed to be Thai Destroyers Seven Acres of Millet for Jim Roberts.

Jim Roberts, who lives about four miles west of town next the farm of Nathan Lemert, came to town Thursday morning and reported that a worm, that looked very much like a caterpillar and about two inches long, had destroyed seven acres of millet for him since Sunday. He supposed the worm is what is known as the Army Worm as there seems to be countless numbers of them.

J. B. Johnson wrote the agricultural department at Nashville explaining the case and asking advice for Mr. Roberts.

Ex-Chief Feed and Seed Inspector A. L. Garrison was reached at his home by phone and his advice asked. He advised that a ditch be dug around the field, a common turning plow being used, running the land side of the plow away from the field, so that the straight side of the ditch be opposite the field. When the worms start to leave the field to attack another crop they will be unable to climb the straight side of the ditch and will pile up in it. Straw saturated with oil can then be put in the ditch and burned thereby destroying the worms.

Mr. Roberts said the worms had also attacked his sweet potato patch and he bought arsenate of lead to make a spray mixture, which it was thought would kill them.

Last year Mr. Smith, at Pleasant Hill, had a field of millet destroyed by worms in the same way but no worms appeared this year.

It is thought the eggs of the worm are brought here in the millet seed. This is an additional reason why our farmers should grow their seeds as far as they possibly can. Some farmers are growing their own rye, soy beans, peas and buckwheat. More seeds could easily be grown by our farmers. The home grown seeds in most cases would cost less than to buy and would be much better as the per centage of germination would be larger.

Yesterday R. R. Dunbar loaded 633 head of sheep he had bought over the county the past week. They would average around $4.00 a head to the farmers.

Miss Marie Cline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cline, Crab Orchard, has won one of the prizes offered by the Chattanooga News to the ladies who should receive the largest number of votes in a contest which has been running in that paper for some weeks. The prize won by Miss Cline came as the result of her receiving nearly one million votes and it entitles her to a free trip of about three weeks to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. She has been notified to come to Chattanooga the last of this week to be ready to join the other nine ladies who will make up the company. She will probably take the trip.

WOULDN'T CHARGE FOR BED

Place to Sleep Must Be Furnished Free, Was the Code of the Lumberjack.

Difficult as the life of a lumberjack in the backwoods may be, it is partially free from certain onerous and irksome customs peculiar to civilization proper.

"I boarded at the house of a fellow lumberjack during my brief experience of three weeks in the backwoods," said an ex-lumberjack. "It was an informal arrangement, to say the least. I did not even know the price I was to pay for the living accommodations in this isolated household, and something in the very atmosphere forbade me to ask. I took it for granted that I would get a square deal."

"When the time came for my departure I asked the host for my bill."

"How many meals have you et here?" he asked.

"I should say that I ate about three meals per day for three weeks," I replied.

"Miss any?" he demanded.

"Possibly two or three," I ventured.

"Our charge is 15 cents per meal," he said. "My wife keeps tab on all the meals et, so I will ask her."

"On consulting his wife's accounts, which were kept by means of a very good memory, it developed that I had consumed a few meals less in the aggregate than the total daily quota for three weeks. I paid for them."

"Now, what do I owe for sleeping accommodations?" I asked. "I have occupied a bed and room for three weeks, you know."

"My host stared in amazement and demanded:

"Do you mean it?"

"Of course I mean it," I replied. "In the eastern country where I come from a man's lodgings usually cost about the same as his meals. I presume it is the same here."

"I should say not!" he retorted sharply. "Nobody in this part of the country is mean enough to charge anybody for a place to sleep!"

BONAPARTE AS A CENSOR

French Emperor Suppressed Almanach de Gotha, Which Mentioned Deposed Princes.

The German Almanach de Gotha published two editions in 1808, and the first of these, which was suppressed by order of Napoleon, is now worth considerably more than its weight in gold. The suppression, says the Pall Mall Gazette, took place because the editor had included in the section devoted to reigning sovereigns a number of German princes deposed by the French emperor. From that year until 1814 the proofs had to be submitted to the French authorities before publication.

The revised edition of 1808 contains a curious collection of portraits. Napoleon figures on the frontispiece with the inscription:

Il a reçu pour nous quand de ciel le forma
Le bras de Romulus et l'esprit de Numa.

The subjects of the other portraits are Murat, then grand duke of Berg ("L'Allemagne le voit avec plaisir au nombre de ses souverains"), Nelson and Pitt. Concerning the last two the editor writes: "Time and death have extinguished the feelings of enmity they once inspired."

Holidays in America.

The question of whether or not there are too few distinctively American holidays may be debatable, but there is a distinctly American holiday in February—Washington's birthday—and February is the shortest month in the year. Moreover it is only a few weeks distant from the universal holidays of Christmas and New Year's, while Christmas is separated by barely a month from Thanksgiving. Nobody can say too much in honor of Lincoln; but Lincoln was born on the 12th of February, a month pre-empted for the father of his country, so far as holidays are concerned. Lincoln was a thorough American, and no doubt if the proposition of a second holiday in February had been put before him for consideration he would have rejected it without hesitation, on the purely practical ground that one holiday in February is enough.—Exchange.

His "Sea Serpent."

A member of the Big Stove club of Bath, Me., told the following experience with a sea serpent. He was at the wheel of his little fishing schooner in Long Island sound when he heard a swishing sound behind his vessel. Peering behind he could just make out the long, sinuous body of a sea serpent with an enormous head and a pair of flashing eyes. The serpent, however, kept his distance. The next morning the sailor found that a rope from the schooner had become entangled in a lobster trap and had towed it up the sound.

Rev. M. A. Martin has closed his revival work at Pleasant Hill and is at home this week.

Judge J. W. Dorton and two sons, Moses and Sussler, were visiting with friends in Grassy Cove Sunday.

There will be preaching in the Congregational church by the pastor next Sunday, the 22nd, both morning and evening.

Arthur Burnett arrived from Chattanooga Saturday and is now assisting in taking stock at the store of his father.

Mrs. F. S. Chance and babe left last week for Springfield to visit her mother. They have stored their furniture and will await developments pending the location of Prof. Chance in agriculture demonstration work before going to housekeeping again. Prof. Chance expects to leave for Springfield the last of this week.

Prof. C. A. Keffer, of the State University, Knoxville, will be here tomorrow with the view to making some arrangements with business men and farmers of the county that will lead to the employment by the county of Prof. Chance, or some other competent person, the coming year as agricultural demonstrator. There is a very strong feeling with many of the farmers of the county that it is a very great mistake to cut off that work just at this time when the farmers of the county are taking so much interest in farming and are making such splendid progress. Everything that can be done reasonably should be urged to continue this work.

A camping party consisting of S. C. Cline, Emmett and Lee Thurman, Emmett Hamby, Dock Hinch and John Mosier left Sunday for a hunting trip in the old seventh district. They will be camped at the mouth of Yellow Creek, near Hebbertsburg. Rich Ramsey joined them yesterday.

While loading crossties near Peavine, Monday, Wm. Dayton fell with a tie while carrying it and the tie struck him and rendered him unconscious for a time. He was brought home and is now resting very well. He will probably be all right again in a few days.

Miss Sue Dunbar, of the Record force, returned to Harriman Sunday, after passing a week's vacation at home.

Miss Nora Jones went to Kingston Sunday for medical aid from Dr. Anderson.

There will be a business meeting of the Congregational church next Sunday morning immediately following the services. All members of the church are especially urged to be present. Chas. Comstock, Clerk.
